HORSESHOE BRAND LILY BULBS

These celebrated Lily bulbs are produced by the best organized association of growers in Japan. It is strictly a Japanese organization and every grower is financially and morally interested in the deliveries made. Every effort is made to produce bulbs of unequalled merit. These bulbs are sold under the Horseshoe Brand in America and the SA Brand in Europe and not under any other marks, regardless of any reports to the contrary. It is absolutely the most direct source of supply for the best Lily bulbs possible to produce.

LILIUM GIGANTEUM

This is the best all around commercial variety of the white Lily for florists use, and the only one we recommend for cold storage purposes. It grows evenly and may be depended upon to flower in a certain time after planting. Horseshoe Brand Bulbs are not allowed to flower in the fields in Japan, and therefore best suited for cold storage purposes. It is the best variety for Easter flowering April 8, 1917. Plant November, December, 1916.

IF YOU ORDER BEFORE JULY 1st you can have deliveries of Giganteum from any of the following cities at the same price in case lots only. In each of these cities are first class cold storage facilities for Lily bulbs, where we will have the cases stored for you on order.

NEW YORK, BOSTON, PHILADELPHIA, PITTSBURGH, BUFFALO, TORONTO, CINCINNATI, TROY, GRAND RAPIDS, CHICAGO, MINNEAPOLIS, OMAHA, GALVESTON, SAN FRANCISCO and VANCOUVER.

You can then get delivery of cold storage Lily bulbs for use the following year, thus saving you transportation charges and usually something in price. If you will consider the freight charges on Lily bulbs per 1000, you will find a considerable saving is effected by ordering Horseshoe Brand bulbs in advance.

LILIUM MULTIFLORUM

This variety is not always true to name as some growers interpret it, so we positively do not guarantee the type under any circumstances. It is a very good Lily, however, and earlier flowering than the Giganteum variety.

LILIUM FORMOSUM

Contrary to the general opinion, these bulbs do not come from Formosa, and never did. They are produced in islands south of Japan, principally in Oshima, the home of Cycas Revoluta. They vary in quality according to the varieties, which at present are greatly mixed. This mixture will be less every year however, and the crop is expected to improve with age. Deliveries are usually made much earlier than other Japanese varieties and the bulbs may be flowered in January.

LILIUM MAGNIFICUM (Oriental Orchid)

This beautiful Lily of rich scarlet and white spotted petals, is fast becoming the foremost of all Lilies for decorating. It is far superior to the Rose for decorative purposes and has no objectionable odor. It is hardy—can be grown outside or forced in the greenhouse. It is a free bloomer—some bulbs having as many as 500 flowers. For florist use it is best to order in advance, and have us keep them in cold storage for you until the proper time for you to plant them for winter flowering—to bloom between Nov. 15th and Feb. 1st. We recommend size 9 to 10 or larger for this purpose. Full growing particulars will be sent by request.

FRENCH BULBS

Owing to the war in Europe deliveries of French bulbs may not be so easily made as usual, and early orders are advised. Freight rates are higher than in normal years, and war insurance, case charges, and other incidental costs connected with the importation of foreign merchandise are greater than ever. The bulbs offered as follows are of our own direct importation from the very best and most reliable source in France.

PAPER WHITE GRANDIFLORA. The most popular French bulb today.

We are one of the largest importers of these bulbs in the world.

BERMUDA BULBS

Bermuda climate is tropical and bulbs raised there are more likely to flower much earlier than the same varieties grown elsewhere. The following bulbs are from a very old and reliable source, and much better than the average bulbs imported from Bermuda.

LILIMUM HARRISII. This was once the most favorite Easter Lily. It is grown extensively throughout the islands and with some growers still a favorite.
